

Summary Notes

1. This community mapping exercise can help us become more aware of what and who are immediately surrounding our congregation. This exercise is meant to be a catalyst for curiosity.
2. The real gift of this map will come in its ongoing use. Part of your fieldwork will be to put it up publicly and find ways to engage others. One congregation gave it to their Sunday School kids, who really had fun filling it in with what they knew!
3. The discussion questions are the real key here. It will be important to hold ample time for curious discussion with both your team and others who engage or contribute to the map.