If you desire peace, cultivate justice,
but at the same time cultivate the fields to produce more bread; otherwise there will be no peace.”

FOOD JUSTICE in Milwaukee
A YEAR OF SERVICE, A LIFETIME OF COMMITMENT.

FOOD JUSTICE IN MILWAUKEE

The LVC Food Justice Program is an opportunity for Volunteers and local organizations to increase local, affordable, and healthy food to people living in the Harambee and Lindsay Heights neighborhoods in Milwaukee.

Live simply so that others may simply live.

LVC Volunteers have been serving at All Peoples Church in its youth programs and urban garden for over two decades. LVC is excited to join with All Peoples to expand the reach of its “Fresh Harambee” project by collaborating with other food justice organizations striving to bring fresh food to these two Milwaukee communities.

YOU CAN HELP!

Beginning in August 2016, LVC will place full-time Volunteers in five Milwaukee urban agriculture projects to increase the communities’ capacity to produce and distribute fresh produce. The Volunteers will also help the organizations seek ongoing support for their collective efforts from local funding sources that share their mission for food justice.

To apply to be in this house, apply online & indicate you want to be considered for the Food Justice House.
